Colma Railway Loss Protested By Supervisors

Traffic Officer List Methods Also Hit By Board Here

Two complaints to the state—one criticising the method of selection of traffic patrolmen and the other scoring the abandonment of three Southern Pacific stations on the San Bruno line—and the setting in motion of steps to create a fiesta commission, engaged the attention of the board of supervisors Monday.

Board ire was raised when William Brownrigg, state personnel director, told the supervisors by letter that traffic patrol choices will be made hereafter without consulting the county and without thought of residence of the applicant.

Brownrigg told the board that a new examination for traffic officers will be held in May and applicants need not contact the supervisors to take the examination. Contacts must be made direct with the personnel board.

"This is a very vicious proposition," Supervisor Albert Witt Jr., Colma, declared, "and an attempt by the state to usurp county powers."

The board directed that the matter be called to the County Supervisors Association for protest.

COLMA FACING LOSS

The stations ordered abandoned by the California Railroad Commission and protested by Supervisor Witt were those at Sholin Hanna and Cypress Lawn, in Colma. The commission did not hold any public hearings.

Witt charged that the Southern Pacific was seeking slowly to abandon the entire San Bruno line and to force shippers of the Colma region to use the mainline from South San Francisco. He said as high as 50 carloads of vegetables a day are shipped from Colma.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel Sullivan was asked to prepare an ordinance creating county fiesta commission to handle the second fall show at Bay Meadows in October.

Supervisor Witt put the motion, directing the wishes of the grand jury for certain county officers to be ex-officio members be carried out. It was indicated by Witt that he would continue his opposition to having the present directorate handle the fiesta.

Supervisor Fred Beer, San Carlos, reported that the directorate with which three members of the board met Friday, was in harmony with the jury recommendations.

DISTRICT BUDGETS HIT

Declaring that the county supervisors had control of "less than half" of tax funds raised, Supervisor Witt moved that the Civic League of San Mateo County be directed to make a critical study of district fire, school, light and water budgets.

Witt protested the efforts of the league being directed only at the county budget. He failed to get a second for his motion, Supervisor Walter High, Burlingame, commenting and stating that it was none of the board's business what the league did.

Winfield Scott, secretary of the league, was an interested spectator.

OTHER MATTERS UP

Protest was voiced by Witt on the procurement of all equipment for the Mills Field airport project from San Francisco WPA headquarters and no from county sources; and dealers were notified that procurement headquarters now have been removed from San Jose to San Francisco;

Efforts to secure new beach frontages from Princeton to Pillar Point, where erosion has washed out the old beaches, will be made; notice of intention to purchase Francis Beach properties for $1410 was directed published.

Check for $5000 from the Baden Kennel Club for purchase of a physiotherapy tank at Community Hospital was turned over by Witt to Dr. Charles Gans.

REALTOR WEDS IN RENO

Alfred M. Rosenstirn, 52, San Francisco and peninsula realtor, and Gladys T. Schlesinger, 33, also of San Francisco, secured a marriage license in Reno Saturday, according to the Associated Press.

'Diamond Jim' Coming Sunday To the Redwood

"Diamond Jim," the colorful, romantic screen biography of James Buchanan Brady, the man who made the gay nineties gay, has been booked for Sunday at the Redwood Theatre. According to Manager Phil A. Freases announcement, the Universal production brings to stardom Edward Arnold, noted for his work in "Sadie McKee," "Million Dollar Ransom," and "Richlieu," as "Diamond Jim."

The life of the man who wore $2,000,000 worth of diamonds, who spent $100,000 on a single party, who was the confidante of Lillian Russell and the Dolly Sisters—of a statesman and bank presidents—is said to be one of the most fascinating in American history. It is based on the best-seller by Parker Morell, brought to the screen by Preston Sturges, directed by Edward Sutherland, and produced by Edmund Grainger.

228 WORKING ON WPA JOBS FOR ENGINEER

Six Projects in Full Swing in Addition To Colma Work

Six WPA projects employing 228 men are now in full swing in San Mateo county, according to County Engineer U. S. Marshall, who is in charge of the work.

In addition, approval of supplemental projects to allow completion of the Woodside road culvert project and the Jefferson avenue repairing is expected daily, the engineer said.

Underway now are the following jobs: Brisbane sewer repairs, employing 60 men; Tunitas road repairs, 40 men; Tunitas bridge, 40 men; Pedro Valley roads, 26 men; North Fair Oaks sewer, 36, and Memorial Park project, 26. In addition, the huge Colma Creek project is underway in South San Francisco.

Work on repairing Oak Knoll Drive at Emerald Lake is expected to be underway within a week as one of the 25 roads listed in the county's huge blanket road project.

The county has had no difficulty securing men for the projects, Marshall said.

However, that a shortage of men might develop was seen when it was learned here that WPA rolls in this four-county district will be reduced by 1500 persons during the next four months.

Director W. O. Eddy said the slash will be effected gradually, with a 15 per cent cut planned each month until June 30, when the state roster will be reduced from 160,000 to 109,000.

Workers best able to make their way in competitive industrial and agricultural channels will be carefully selected with regard to seasonal work opportunity and individual aptitude.

"We will discharge the workers," Eddy explained, "only after careful investigation of their circumstances and fitness to find employment in seasonal jobs, especially agriculture, which are now coming up. No discrimination will be made."

Lodge Worker Known Here Taken by Death

Mrs. Emma Mae Cole of Los Gatos, well-known in Redwood City for her lodge work, died in San Jose Monday evening following a lingering illness, according to word received here. Mrs. Cole was past matron of the Los Gatos chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and in 1932 was the deputy grand matron of the 30th district, O. E. S. Her daughter, Phyllis, is past grand adviser of the grand assembly, Order of Rainbow for girls. Her son, Philip, is past adviser to the state assembly. Her husband, O. R. Cole, also survives.

STOLEN CLOTHES FOUND

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN MATEO, March 16—A raid on a Filipino hotel here Saturday night resulted in recovery of a radio and clothes stolen near Mountain View. Officer Frank Steele and Santa Clara county deputy sheriffs made the raid. No one was arrested as they said the burglars had sold the goods to Filipinos living in the hotel. The raid resulted from a "tip" that the burglars resided in the hotel.

Council Speeds Safety Devices For Crossings

New Flashing Signals To Assist Flagman Win Support

Tentative approval was given by the city council Monday night to installation of badly needed safety devices at the Broadway and other crossings in order to speed their acquisition.

The equipment planned for the crossings are the latest rotating stop-sign, flashing light and two-train indicator type of signal. Two of these signals, except for the two-train indicators, have just been installed at the Middlefield-Dumbarton cutoff crossing.

The Broadway crossing signals will be manually operated between 6 a.m. and 12 midnight, with the flagman to be off duty the remaining six hours and the signals to work when trains enter the block.

On other crossings, Jefferson avenue, Maple and Main streets, the signals would work automatically during the 24 hours, with no flagmen stationed at these points

The council protested automatic working of the Jefferson crossing because the signal would be in operation whenever trains were halted at the depot, and decided to ask the Southern Pacific to have the Broadway watchman manually control the Jefferson signal with the Broadway one.

A. T. Mercier, Southern Pacific general manager, told the council that if approval is given the matter will be immediately submitted to the railroad commission and installations will follow shortly.

Acting City Manager Charles Dimmitt was instructed upon motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy, seconded by Councilman James Eva, to secure the suggested Jefferson avenue control change, and by their action, the councilmen indicated approval of the railway's plan.

The council did not take any action over the Eaton avenue crossing, which is located in San Carlos outside its jurisdiction.

Tramutolo Praises Roosevelt, McGrath

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN BRUNO, Mar. 18.—Chauncey Tramutolo, prominent San Francisco attorney and Democrat, urged the Young Democrats of San Mateo County group at a dinner meeting here last night to secure the return of President Roosevelt and Congressman John J. McGrath.

McGrath, San Mateo county resident and Eighth district representative, won the praise of Tramutolo for his support of President Roosevelt.

About 100 persons attended the dinner, held in Uncle Tom's Cabin, with Robert Higgins in charge. Twelve were present from Redwood City.

$10,000,000 FOR NEW HOMES

L. M. Giannini, president of Bank of America (left) accepts from Clifford C. Anglim, director of the Federal Housing Administration for Northern California, a government commitment insuring the 2000th home loan made by that bank under the insured single mortgage system. The loans approximate $10,000,000 and Bank of America is declared first bank in the United States to reach that figure under the single mortgage phase of the National Housing Act.

BORAH BEST CHOICE

Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho is the only Republican aspirant for the presidency who can defeat President Roosevelt for re-election next November. It is believed the unrestricted delegation from California will vote at the Cleveland convention for him.

Borah has an experience of 30 years in the United States Senate and for a long period has been a member of the foreign relations committee. He is honest, fearless and a man of wonderful ability and foresight.

In the great crisis of the Civil War we needed a Lincoln and in the present turmoil we need a Borah to get us back to normalcy and prosperity. The people of the country are behind Borah for they know he is the right man, the only man, that can bring peace and happiness to the country.

TRANSIT MEET MAPPED

BURLINGAME, March 18—Following a talk by Hugh Pomeroy, county planning advisor, the Burlingame Chamber of Commerce board of directors drew up plans for a county-wide meeting of chamber of commerce officials to secure unity of action in promoting rapid transit for the peninsula. No date was set for the meeting.

$14,000 ATHERTON SALE

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Saslaw have sold to A. J. Shragge property in the Selby track, Atherton, for $14,000, it was disclosed with filing of the deeds in County Recorder T. C. Rice's office Monday. The property extends 225 feet on Austin avenue and 215 on Tuscaloosa.

A nine-hole golf course for Texas Technological college campus has been approved as an NYA project.

5-Day Exhibit Urged for Fair During Fall

Trip to Secure Data To Enlarge Fiesta Set for Officials

Determination to expand the coming county fiesta into the "county fair" type of show today led four county officials to decide on a three-day tour to gain ideas from promoters of other successful shows in California.

County Manager Walter Kellogg announced that next week he Publicity Director William McCarthy, Agricultural Commissioner Max J. Leonard and Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel Sullivan would confer at Pomona with sponsors of the Los Angeles County Fair; at Stockton with San Joaquin County Fair backers, and possibly with other exhibition planners.

EARLIER DATE URGED

The four, together with Deputy Controller George Filbert, discussed the coming show this morning preparatory to drawing up a county ordinance creating a fiesta commission. Conferences also are slated with Bruce Gibson, new president of the board of directors of the San Mateo County Floral and Products Fiesta, handlers of last year's successful show, and with representatives of industries which may be included in the 1936 display.

Haste in setting definite dates for the fiesta was urged by Commissioner Leonard. He suggested that a date one week earlier than last year's show would be more suitable to horticulturists. This would place the fiesta around October 1. He explained growers will start planting soon in anticipation of the show.

LONGER SHOW PLANNED

Kellogg said the group agreed that not only should the fiesta be more inclusive than last year, but that it should run for five days instead of for three, as in 1935.

Final details of the show are to be worked out by the commission when it is appointed by the supervisors after the ordinance creating the group is adopted. Kellogg said he expected the ordinance would be presented to the board within two weeks. Attorney Sullivan was authorized by the board Monday to prepare the ordinance, idea of which originated with the grand jury when it learned that in order for the local show to participate in state funds it must be handled on an "official" basis.

Mulcrevy, 55, S. F. County Clerk, Dies

ATHERTON, March 18.—Harry I. Mulcrevy, 55, county clerk of San Francisco, died at 6 o'clock this morning at his Atherton home. He had moved there only Sunday. He had long been a sufferer from asthma.

Mulcrevy is survived by four nephews, Frank, Willie and Ray Mulcrevy of San Francisco, and Robert Martin, chief deputy clerk of that city. The body has been taken to San Francisco for burial.

$200,000 HARBOR BOND VOTE MAPPED FOR CITY

Intention to submit a bond issue of $200,000 for deep water dredging in Redwood Harbor and for creation of public wharf facilities in Redwood City's plans to become a seaport of San Francisco Bay was reached by unanimous vote of the city council Monday night.

Exact date of the election was not set, but City Attorney Albert Mansfield was authorized to prepare the proceedings for submitting the project. Several proposed charter amendments will come up at the same time. The election will probably take place in May.

The council's action came after receipt late Monday by the Council Harbor Committee of latest advices from Washington as to the status of the Redwood City harbor fund appeals.

CITY MUST COMPLY

Word from Washington was that Redwood City must comply with federal demands in connection with the previous War Department approvals, which were:

(1) That Redwood City contribute one-half of the cost of dredging, or $94,000 of the $188,000 cost;

(2) That Redwood City furnish suitable areas for disposal of dredged material, and

(3) That Redwood City provide "suitable modern port facilities."

The latest federal reply came from Lieut.-Col. Glen E. Edgerton, Corps of Engineers, War Department, Washington, D. C., in reply to a wire to Maj.-Gen. E. H. Markham, chief of engineers, War Department, from William Vielhauer, secretary of the Council Harbor Committee, who presented the matter to the council last night.

Its substance substantiated a reply from Brig. Gen. G. B. Pillsbury, acting chief of engineers, dated January 15, and forwarded here by United States Senator William Gibbs McAdoo.

Brigadier General Pillsbury, as did Lieutenant Colonel Edgerton, emphasized that the War Department would put forth efforts to secure federal funds for half the dredging "if and when" Redwood City complied with the department's demands previously set out.

The project was approved by congress August 30, 1935 "subject to the provision that no work shall be undertaken on the project until satisfactory assurances have been furnished the Secretary of War (Dern) that suitable modern port facilities will be provided," it is pointed out.

This Redwood City is attempting to do in the proposed $200,000 bond issue, half of which is to go to dredging and the balance to wharf facilities.

CREEL SENDS REPLY

As to Redwood City's appeal for WPA or other federal funds, George Creel, close adviser to President Roosevelt and on the staff of Collier's, submitted the opinion to the harbor committee of Horatio B. Hackett, assistant administrator of PWA, declaring that new projects must depend upon further appropriations in congress.

This same view was expressed to United States Senator Hiram Johnson by A. M. Ferebee for Administrator Harold Ickes in another communication to the harbor committee.

As a $1,243,000,000 public works program has been supported by 100 mayors and is now being worked out by President Roosevelt, hopes are high that Redwood City will secure some federal assistance on the wharf facilities.

OPTIONS ACCEPTED

In view of this optimistic outlook, the council, upon motion of Councilman Paul McCarthy, seconded by Councilman James Eva, determined to instruct City Attorney Mansfield to set the bond election steps in motion.

This step, it is believed, will convince the War Department of the seriousness of Redwood City's appeal, and likely will result in provision of funds where evidence of less direct intentions of the municipality will be unavailing.

Options to acreages desired at the waterfront were presented by City Attorney Mansfield from George and Sarah Merrill; heirs of A. A. Brown, and from Lilian Rolph, the parcels to bring $1,500 per acre. The options, good for one year, were accepted upon motion of Councilman McCarthy, seconded by Councilman Eva.

Purity Marks 11th Birthday With Big Sale

Purity Stores this week are observing the 11th anniversary of the founding of the firm in San Francisco by three young men with very little cash but with faith in their ideals.

The three men who founded Purity had worked in small town grocery stores as boys, had later entered the food business, worked in canneries, and knew what constituted food values.

They pooled their life savings, rented a small room on 24th street, in San Francisco, and in 1925 launched the Purity organization upon definite ideals.

First, they were partciular about the quality of what they sold. Having worked in several branches of the food business they knew their groceries. Second, they gave their customers good values—ran "specials" a full week—took a smaller profit, figured that volume and good-will would more than make up the smaller margin of profit. Third, and vitally important—they were helpful to their customers—helpful as only men who have worked in a small village store know how to be. And that was the beginning—the start on the road that leads to success.

Steadily people learned that Purity meant economy.

Today, in a hundred cities and towns throughout central and northern California there are Purity Stores—stores greatly improved, modern in equipment, far more pretentious than that first little store. But each with the same ideals.

Purity employes take an active interest in their jobs and are a contented lot.

Employes' parties are frequent. The company carries life insurance for them, listens to their problems, helps them as members of the family. As an example of what it means to be a Purity employe, is the fact that during the entire depression not a single employe took a salary cut.

Purity founders have continued to operate the business and have steadfastly refused to sell out or to affiliate with any other concerns.

Santa Fe Service Sought for County

John F. Leinen, chairman of the Interurban Relations Committee of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations of San Francisco, has been authorized to contact the community organizations of San Mateo county on the league's proposal to secure an amendment to the Santa Fe Rail and Bus Line application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for a bus service between San Francisco and Los Angeles to require the Santa Fe to operate certain proposed schedules from Hayward into San Mateo.

The league believes that this will be of advantage to the 100,000 inhabitants of San Mateo county who are now entirely off the Santa Fe system.

MENLO PARK NEWS

Not much interest is being taken in the forthcoming city election on April 25. No one has yet filed for city positions. There are two trustee's places to fill and a clerk and treasurer to be elected. It is rumored that Harry Lusk and Frank Maloney will aspire to be councilmen. Thus far no other names have been mentioned. The last day for filing is on March 25 at noon. Those seeking municipal honors had better make up their minds to file. The early bird may catch the worm.

The many friends of Mrs. M. Whalen, a pioneer of San Mateo county, will be pleased to learn that she has returned to her home after a severe illness. She was confined to a hospital for three weeks.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harra of Menlo Park sympathize with them in their trouble. Their little daughter, the pretty Gloria June Harra, 14, a sophomore at Sequoia Union High School, was one of the victims of the tragic crossing accident near Redwood City Monday. Her companion was killed and Miss Harra was severely injured, but it is said she may recover. Miss Harra is a beautiful and talented girl with a host of friends on the peninsula. E. Harra, assistant chief of the Menlo Park fire department, is her uncle.

A feature of the silver tea given Tuesday by Menlo Park American Legion Auxiliary, No. 443, was fortune telling. Isabelle Weeden Lindquist Jr., past president of the unit, read futures in the tea leaves. The party was given at the Santa Cruz avenue home of Mrs. Carroll A. Devol, president of the unit.

Menlo Park Native Daughters of the Golden West will give a card party Monday, March 23, at 8:15 p.m. in the Masonic Hall. Score cards will sell for 25 cents.

A monster whist party for the benefit of Second Order Cloistered Dominican Sisters of Corpus Christi Monastery, Menlo Park, will be held in San Francisco Thursday evening, April 16. Honorary chairman is the Rev. John Leonard Callahan, O.P., Provincial; chairlady, Mrs. Mary Rhodes; assistant chairladies, Mrs. Allen Loughran, Miss Rose Bohan, Mrs. J. J. Collins, Miss Catherine Ryan and Miss Mary Krotky.

The Peninsula Creamery is to open a retail department in its wholesale quarters in the Maloney block. The company maintains a big department at Palo Alto. William Wilson, young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson of Palo Alto, will have charge of the Menlo Park branch.

Mrs. W. T. Wilson was operated on at the Palo Alto hospital this week. She is recovering nicely and will soon be able to return to her home on Lytton avenue, Palo Alto.

J. Cheever Cowdin, a former well-known resident of Menlo Park, in the purchase of the Universal Studios of Hollywood, one of the largest cinema concerns in the world, has become head of the motion picture industry in this country.

Cowdin and his associates in the Standard Capital Company had exercised their option to purchase the film company for $5,500,000. The studio controls 52 separate distributing organizations in a far flung international group.

Cowdin many years ago married Miss Florence Hopkins, the youngest of the three pretty Hopkins sisters of Menlo Park, the daughters of the late E. W. Hopkins, one of the original owners of the Southern Pacific Railroad company. The wedding of 15 years ago was one of the big social events of that period. Through wise investments, the young man soon became a millionaire and some years ago went to Hollywood to engage in the moving picture industry. The romance of the Cowdins went on the rocks, Mrs. Cowdin afterward becoming Mrs. Hill, who with her young son lives in Burlingame. Cowdin is many times a millionaire and is probably one of the best known men in California.

A. F. Poulter spent the past week-end at Summit where he enjoyed winter sports. He was with a Sierra Club party.

Society turned out Saturday along with racing fans to view the races at Tanforan, and many luncheon parties were given at the clubhouse. Among those seen lunching there were Mr. and Mrs. Felix McGinnis and sons, Frank Jr., Carl and Frank, of Menlo Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Roth were seen watching their favorites from the exclusive Thoroughbred Club.

Sequoia Buses Used As Models In Demonstration

Sequoia buses and students served as models last week for a demonstration of the state traffic laws concerning school buses which will be published in Motorland, nationally circulated magazine.

William Kilcline, editor and manager of the magazine, was sent to Sequoia by the state highway patrol for information concerning application of the laws.

Donald Bogie, vice principal, dean of boys, and in charge of the school bus system, arranged the demonstration which illustrated for Kilcline and Phil Stroupe, press photographer, how children dismounting from a bus must pass in front of the bus to cross the street, and approaching cars must stop.

The demonstration was made on the Woodside road.

Bogie was in charge at the high school during the absence of Principal Clarence Argo, who was attending a conference of educators in Los Angeles.

HOME GUTTED IN FIRE HERE BEFORE NOON

Hopkins Avenue Place Is Badly Damaged During Blaze

Starting apparently from a defective gas heater in the living room, fire gutted the four-room home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Peterson, 1930 Hopkins avenue, shortly before noon Wednesday.

Fire Chief Mark Ryan estimated damage at about $2,000, while Mrs. Peterson estimated it at $3,500. Furniture, clothes and nearly everything in the home was destroyed, she said.

The blaze was reported to the fire department by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kochart, neighbors who saw smoke and flames billowing from the structure.

Peterson is a Southern Pacific employe; Mrs. Peterson works for a San Carlos dry cleaning establishment. The Petersons said the home was insured.

The smoke and flames were pouring from all sides of the house when the fire department arrived but the conflagration was brought under control by Chief Ryan and his firemen after a 15-minute struggle. Chief Ryan blamed a heater for the blaze.

Marianna Bishascel Is Taken By Death

Marianna Bishascel, 46, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Bishascel of Dos Palos, died suddenly here Sunday morning of a heart attack at her home on Wellington avenue.

She had resided here for the past nine years and was the housekeeper for John Boella.

Surviving kin besides her mother are two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Nagel of Dos Palos and Mrs. James Crader of San Francisco.

S. M. Council Sets Special Vote May 5

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN MATEO, March 17—After a short meeting last night the San Mateo City Council adjourned until Thursday when it will plan for a special election May 5. Issues to be presented for vote will include a 1915 bond issue refunding plan; reinvestment in the city of the right to control railroad, street railroad and electric corporations in the city, and advisability of the city acquiring its own water works.

JONES WINS DELAY

Samuel J. Jones, indicted Bayshcre attorney, Monday won another continuance of his arraignment when he made four motions before Superior Judge Cotton to set aside the charges that he accepted a bribe in connection with the granting of a Bayshore City bingo permit. As a result, April 8 at 10 a. m. was set as date for hearing arguments on the motions.

For the centennial of Missouri State prison this year, state officials are planning to rebuild the penitentiary at more then 125 times its original cost.

FRANK J. SCHMITZ DIES

Frank J. Schmitz, 44-year-old carpet layer residing on Alameda de las Pulgas, dropped dead in San Francisco Sunday. Schmitz, a native of San Francisco, was a nephew of the late Eugene E. Schmitz, one-time mayor of that city. His wife, Ella, survives. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. from the H. F. Suhr parlors, San Francisco, with interment private.

What Working Wives Think of Marriage

A woman may still operate a typewriter with one hand and a cook stove with the other, providing her husband is willing to perform double tasks, too.

By Helen Welshimer

A scientific survey of 652 married women with outside jobs reveals some interesting and surprising facts about modern domestic relations

WOMEN—even the hardest working women, whose husbands can give them nothing but love, in the phraseology of the sentimental ditty—are in favor of marriage. Destructive critics, all-wise cynics may say what they please. Women want homes and husbands!

When Dr. Cecile Tipton La Follette completed her scientific survey of the domestic relations of 652 employed married women in 36 American cities, not long ago, she asked the working wives if they would recommend marriage for other women who might have to work outside the home.

"Out of the group, 574 said that they would advise women who must combine the dual role of homemaking and gainful employment to go ahead and marry," she explains. "Only 36 said that they wouldn't and 42 didn't answer. The working wives seemed to believe that marriage had certain happinesses and benefits which more than compensated for sacrifices.

"Oddly enough, while the morale in these families was always excellent, it was even higher where there were the most children, the least money, and the greatest amount of work to be done.

"These women were of the opinion that marriage rounds out a woman's life more completely and that there is no substitute for the happiness which comes from a shared life."

Dr. La Follette, who is a member of the teaching staff of New College, Teachers' College, at Columbia University in New York City, revealed in her study of the problems of employed married women homemakers that the trend of home life was happier for the group studied since the women have entered business.

There is the problem of woman's health, for one thing.

"Only about 49 women, or one in 13, said that they were always tired," she reports. "More than one-third thought that their dispositions were better, and slightly fewer than one-third said that their health was better because of their outside work.

"MANY reasons were given by the women to support this. More than half of the women questioned, 372 to be exact, said that they were more stimulating companions to their husbands and therefore both were happier."

Because women are working, men are growing more appreciative of homemaking tasks, Dr. La Follette discovered. This affects the division of labor in the home.

"In the home where the wife supplies as much of the family income as the husband and sometimes more, the husband is beginning to share the home responsibilities. In the study made this was found to be true of 309 or 47 per cent of the husbands, who were helping with the managerial side of the home, which has to do chiefly with making decisions, and 482 or 73 per cent, who were actually assisting with household tasks.

"Men will take only a dignified attitude toward the duties of the home when they are trained from childhood to look at such tasks with respect. Parents must get boys over the idea that certain work belong to boys and certain work to girls. Housework can be made fun if children draw lots to see what each will do.

"When a man and woman are both working and there is no maid, the man should assume not only his share of the homemaking activities but of the housekeeping activities as well. If boys had household tasks to perform as children they would adjust more easily to conditions in the home where the wives are gainfully employed.

"Courses in home economics for boys now offered in 42 states are becoming increasingly popular, also.

"A consideration of the question of training for homemaking in the schools would tend to induce a more tolerant attitude toward the gainful employment of married women and their problems."

IN brief, a woman may still operate a typewriter with one hand and a cook stove with the other, providing her husband is willing to perform double tasks, too.

"Women are working for many reasons," Dr. La Follette discloses. "For example, to provide insurance, to start their husbands in new businesses, and to educate their children. Out of the 652 men in the study I made, 128, or approximately one-fifth, were unemployed.

"Out of the 128 unemployed husbands, 39, or about one-third, were unemployed because they could not find jobs. Almost another third were without work because of illness. Eleven had been laid off because of the general slump in business."

Dr. La Follette is strongly in favor of the employment of married women whose incomes are needed for family support. It is a question to be decided by the individual woman and her family in the light of all contributing factors, she asserts.

Furthermore, firing married women would not end the depression, she proved from her survey.

"The 652 women employ 540 other workers to assist them with their household duties. Not all of these workers would be discharged if the married women were not working, but it is probable that many or most of them would be. The responsibility of many of these dependents would fall on other relatives, on public charity, or on government aid if the married women were not working. Firing them would be no help.

"Then, too, what would happen to the jobs of the baker, the laundryman, the merchant, and the manufacturer of factory-made food and clothing if thousands of employed married women suddenly had more time at home? Unemployment would mean less money to pay others and more time to cook and bake and sew.

"In my study alone, about three-fourths of the laundry work is being done by someone other than the home-maker, five-sixths of the bread is purchased, two-thirds of the dry-cleaning is done outside the home, and one-half of the women do no sewing for the family."

In 73 per cent of the homes studied, the husbands were assisting with the household tasks.

THERE is a definite tendency on the part of fathers to make themselves important in their children's lives due to this new situation, Dr. La Follette maintains. She reports:

"Fathers achieve this by actually entering into the lives of their children instead of merely supplying the money for their rearing. Now that fathers often are in large part responsible for their children's physical welfare, and work with them getting meals when the mother is not home, they know them better.

"Fathers must be encouraged in this work. They can make themselves important to their children by playing with them, developing an interest in their hobbies, taking them on trips, helping them make decisions.

"The wife should assume that everything which must be done for the children need not be done by her. Women are often selfish with their children. They want their undivided love and attention. Women feel that by devoting their lives to their children this will be accomplished.

"These women have the father punish the child for misdemeanors committed during the day—so that they need not do it. When a decision is opposed to the child's wishes the child is led to believe that the father decided it.

"But when shared activities in the house are generally accepted this will begin to pass. Husbands and wives will be better companions. Doing things together provides a means of being together and thus they become better acquainted.

"Married women working will not pass with the depression. Since most of them work because of economic necessity, men will be forced to asume their share of not only managerial phases of the home but the actual doing of some household tasks."

THE new arrangement has had other advantages for men.

"Less worry over money has made marriage more satisfactory for 30 husbands in the survey," according to Dr. La Follette. "The wives in these families say that their husbands have a better attitude toward work because they can choose their jobs a little more freely than the men who are responsible for the entire support of their families.

"In 234 cases the husbands have become more ambitious. They do not want to be outdone by their wives in making money, or they are trying to get ahead so that their wives will not have to work. The husbands in 62 families are very appreciative of what their wives are doing for them. Pride in the accomplishment of their wives and an interest in their work are reported."

Of the families studied, 66 per cent, or 433, had no children. One hundred and thirteen had only one child, and 219 families had a total of 391 children or an average of 1.78 children per family. Of the 433 who have no children, 8.7 per cent, or 33, had adopted a total number of 11 children and assumed the care of 47 stepchildren.

The main reason for not having children, Dr. La Follette discovered, was the fact that women were not able to obtain maternity leaves.

"If they could expect a maternity leave, 124 childless women said that they would have children; but 99 childless women and 28 women with children said that they would not have children even if granted a maternity leave.

"Of the 433 women who have no children, 275 said that they wished they might have children."

'OPEN HOUSE' PROGRAM SET BY COUNCIL

Peddlers, Billboards, Dial Telephones Also Debated

Redwood City citizens soon will be given an opportunity to take stock of municipal holdings and to see what makes the machinery of government go around.

On suggestion of Retiring Mayor Charles Lambert, the council gave approval to staging a "field day" or days tentatively for March 28 and 29 as is done in Berkeley and other cities every year in order to acquaint taxpayers with what their money has accomplished.

Visits would be made to the yacht harbor, corporation yard, city buildings, softball park, Emerald Lake bowl, city reservoirs, parks, tennis courts, and other places of interest.

Councilman James Eva moved, and Councilman Robert Jones seconded, that such a day or days be arranged for an early date.

DIAL TELEPHONES MAY BE REQUESTED

Request that the chamber of commerce look into the question of "improvement and modernization of the Redwood City telephone service" was made by the council.

Councilman Eva, who proposed bettering of the service, suggested that possibly Redwood City could secure dial telephones at this time.

Without going on record for the dial telephone, the council did, upon motion of Eva, seconded by Councilman Evans Fletcher, decide to seek modernization of present service.

BILLBOARD LIMIT WILL BE ENFORCED

Vigorous opposition to further billboards in Redwood City was voiced by Councilmen James Eva and George McNulty, in taking the view that the limit of 40 now set for the city is sufficient to fill all outdoor advertising needs.

The council pair approved the request to rebuild one sign at Main and Elm streets, but voiced disapproval of three proposed new ones.

Eva and McNulty both were emphatic that they must be convinced of the necessity of any additional boards.

"PANHANDLING" CODE INTRODUCED HERE

Directed at "panhandling" activities in Redwood City by fictitious "disabled veterans" and others who engage in peddling, an ordinance was introduced at the council meeting Monday night as requested by the American Legion post.

The ordinance was urged on behalf of the post by Maj. H. W. Edmonds, retired army officer and active participant in post affairs, after increased activities here by the visiting veterans.

Edmonds declared that some veterans were engaged in a coast-wide "racket" selling small flags and other almost worthless trinkets and representing the funds as going to charity or disabled veterans.

The ordinance authorizes the police department to go as far as fingerprinting applicants should this be deemed advisable, before giving permits, required of all solicitors. Edmonds is to confer with Police Chief C. L. Collins on a set of regulations covering the police part in the drive to end panhandling.

The ordinance was introduced upon motion of Councilman Louis Christensen and second of Councilman Evans Fletcher.

★ ★ ★

DOGS ON LEASH, OTHER MATTERS

Other actions included:

Deferred action on the proposed preparation of an ordinance requiring that dogs be kept on leashes, pending further study of model ordinances now in effect in the East and reported acceptable to dog owners;

Accepted suggestion of Councilman Paul McCarthy that efforts be made to find space on the Southern Pacific property at the depot for the Emerald Lake, Woodside and Middlefield road busses to accommodate commuters discommoded by the removal of the stages to Winslow street;

Declared weeds a nuisance and directed removal by property owners or the city;

Rezoned property opposite the postoffice as requested by Max Bartell to permit establishment of a steam laundry, the ordinance to be effective in 30 days;

Authorized Menokirk Club to conduct Easter Sunrise Services;

Heard Councilman Fletcher protest statement that $5,000 had been expended in purchase of Horace Hawes Park, and agreed price paid was $2,760;

Approved $55 expenditure for Realty Magazine ad upon motion of Councilman Fletcher.

Joan Andrews' MENU OF THE WEEK

A friend of mine, whose family is very fond of lamb chops, appealed to me in desperation the other day for some new way of serving the chops. The result of our combined efforts was lamb chops with horse-radish cream. And were they good! I've built today's Menu of the Week around this dish. Here's the menu:

Celery root salad, French dressing
Lamb chops, horse-radish cream Scalloped potatoes
Chopped, buttered spinach
Coffee cream

Have your lamb chops cut very thick and brown them for about ten minutes in butter. Then place them in a roasting pan, place a spoonful of horse-radish cream on each chop, smoothing it evenly. Cover the roasting pan and place the chops in a hot oven for a few minutes.

Horse-radish Cream: Cook together one tablespoon of butter and one tablespoon of flour. Add some paprika, a dash of sugar, salt, a little onion juice and beef stock. Cook fifteen minutes, then add one-half cup of cream and cook the mixture ten minutes more. At the last add two heaping tablespoons of fresh, grated horse-radish.

Coffee Cream: Use two cups of freshly made, strong coffee. Soak two tablespoons of granulated gelatin in a little cold water. Add it to the coffee which has been sweetened to taste. Stir until dissolved. Add a few drops of lemon juice. When the mixture has thickened, stir in one-fourth pint of thick cream which has been whipped stiff. Mold and chill.

Exchangites Hold Irish Night Program

With corned beef and cabbage dinner in honor of Irish Night, the Exchange club celebrated St. Patrick's Day Tuesday at the regular weekly meeting of the service club at the Sequoia Hotel.

The program arranged by Chairman John McCarthy included tapdancing by Joan Locker, 6, and Joyce Bevilockway, 6, and clogdancing by Drury McCarthy, 11-year-old son of the chairman, and songs by Marianne Schweickert, 6.

W. W. Hendricks, deputy county engineer, spoke on "Alphabetical Engineering," covering under this topic the relief engineering work now going on in the county.

Guests were Frank Archibald and Mark Larwood.
